DEBATING AND PUBLIC SPEAKING

On Thursday November 9th 2017, Lachlan Maclean (year 8) entered the Junior Public Speaking Competition and presented his engaging speech about the Power of the Imagination. Lachlan's presentation was entertaining and expressive and he will receive this year's Junior Public Speaking Award on Presentation Day.

Lachlan Maclean

On Friday November 10th 2017, the year 7 debating team was able to view the final of the year 9/10 competition in Sydney via video conferencing. The topic that non-violent offenders should never be sent to prison was extremely interesting and the team re-visited the skills they will need for next year's debating competition.

MUSIC SUCCESS

A big congratulations to both Rachel Carolan of year 9 and Frances Carolan of year 7 for achieving an A grade in their Grade 5 AMEB Pianoforte exams. Earlier this year both girls received an A grade for their grade 4 Pianoforte exams. Two grades in one year is a remarkable achievement and we could not be more proud of these two sisters.

Grade 5 is starting to get pretty serious and it is a testament to just how much time and hard work they dedicate towards this. It is made possible by their supportive family and by their very talented and passionate Piano Tutor Mrs Louise Dillon.

Congratulations should also go out to Aidan Hanna of year 9 who was invited to play trumpet at Centaur Primary School's Remembrance Day Ceremony. As an ex - Centaur student it is great to see Aidan willingly supporting his old school. Aidan plays Trumpet 1 in Banora Point High Schools' Senior Band and it is not doubt due to his substantial talent and congenial nature that he was offered this opportunity.

See you all at BraveArts at the end of the year.

OUR SCIENCE TEACHER BRINGS HOME BLING!

Our Science Teacher, Mr Mark Mackenzie, represented the Tweed in Australia's World Championship team the "Auroras" for Dragon Boat Racing.

Team members for the Auroras are sourced from the whole of Australia and must qualify in strength, paddling style and a commitment to twelve months of gruelling training. They are the cream of Dragon Boat Paddlers.

Mr Mackenzie has promoted Dragon Boat Paddling within the school for many years by entering both staff and student teams in Kids In Need Regattas and making paddling a school sport.

The 13th IDBF World Dragon Boat Racing Championships were held in Kunming, China from 17 – 23 October. Mark's team the Senior C (over 60 years old) competed in the 2km, 500m and 200m open and mixed racing. They achieved Silver in 2km open standard boat (20 paddlers), 2km mixed small boat (10 paddlers), 500m open standard boat and 200m open standard boat. They also achieved Bronze in the 200m mixed standard boat. Mr Mackenzie came home to Tweed with 4 silver and 1 bronze medals!

Other than the 2km races all races were the aggregate of three races. That is a lot of paddling!

Australia was coming 3rd after 2 races in the 500m open standard but clawed their way into 2nd and a silver placing in the last race.

Canada was too strong overall and beat us by the smallest margin at the finish line each time. And we did the same to the US team.

Mr Mackenzie says it was a real honour to stand on the podium representing Australia in Dragon boating and seeing the Australian flag raised in second place. However he is just as proud that he lasted one full year of intense training. That is a real achievement and he deserves a good rest now it is over.

Sorry Mr Mackenzie but there are a few more generations of Banora Point High School students that require your coaching!

HOLIDAY MOVIE-MAKING MARATHON

These holidays, instead of just having a traditional movie marathon, why not encourage your teen to make their own movie? They will be practising their literacy and technology skills over the break, and having a lot of fun too!

The summer break is a great opportunity for your teen to get stuck into a project. Making a movie can develop critical thinking, literacy, social, technical and artistic skills – and it's a fun activity your teen can do with their friends over the holidays too. They will also enjoy showing you their finished product when it's all done!

There are lots of different ways your teen could make a movie. They could use old photos, animate their own short film, make a documentary, make a stop motion movie, interview friends and family about a topic they're interested in, recreate their favourite film, or write, direct and star in their own movie!

What you need

- An idea
- A camera (or smart-device)
- A computer (or smart-device)
- Movie-making software
- Actors, props and costumes (optional)

How you can help

Talk to your teen about what they would like to make a movie about. Help them come up with inspiration for the story line, or a topic for their movie – it could be anything they're interested in!

Talk to your teen about the type of movie they would be interested in making. Search online together for tutorials to help them get started (for example, you could search for 'how to make a stop motion movie').

Help your teen find some movie making software to edit their video. There are plenty of apps and programs out there that teens can easily use. Most mobile devices will already have movie maker software installed – or you could help your teen download an app or software that suits the type of movie they are planning to make (just search online for 'movie making software/app').

If you have younger children, encourage your teen to involve them in the process. Perhaps they could create a character for their younger brother or sister, so they can be involved in the creative process as well!

Let your teen search the house for props and costumes – they could even create their own from some recycled materials they find.

It's show-time!

When your teen has completed their movie, be sure to make an event out of showing it! Prepare some movie snacks to share and watch the final product together. Remember to let your teen know you're proud of their hard work and creativity!
